Dirty and threatening

Thankfully not paid in advance. Room was dark, damp and smelly, windows were filthy and the bed looked like it hadn't been changed or made since it was last used. Public rooms were a building site, said NO THANKS and booked in next door which gave us a great view on Saturday night when no less than four police vehicles rolled up...told that was the third time in just a few weeks.

Homeless unit

Most disgusting place I've ever stayed.

Toilet covered in filth, sink & shower dirty, chest of drawers, with drawers missing, holes in walls, windows covered in paint.

Bed linen all stained. We slept with clothes on.

Couldn't wait to go home & De louse

My missus took pictures of this place.

My friends who booked & hadn't paid till arrival refused to stay in it.

Manager replies to messages on Expedia, but not got the balls to speak to your face.

Rat pit!

First impressions last. So imagine my despair. When I find a dark hotel with posters all over the windows saying there are minor repairs going on. And a cheery picker in the car park. Been there months. Spent frantic minutes in the most disgusting reception. Trying to find someone. It smelt like rot and 30 years of fags in there! A quick look through into the bar area. And there were paint pots and half eaten pizza's everywhere. And wires hanging down from the ceiling. Health and safety anyone!

When someone did eventually turn up. And i said i didn't want to stay there. They shrugged there shoulders and couldn't of given a monkeys about me.

Glad to say i went else where.

Disgusting

My wife booked us in here for 1 night when we arrived I knew I wasn't going to be happy. The initial booking in was simple enough then we got taken to our room. Observing on the way I noted loose exposed wires from several places in walls , a fire door with the glass missing from bottom , carpets were filthy and a trip hazard, once arriving at our so called double room i was horrified. No lights in bathroom, the carpet was filthy,mouse droppings in the 2 dirty chipped cups we were supposed to use for tea/coffee. No mirror in bathroom, no running hot water, the toilet was blocked with faeces, dust everywhere, no tv even though it states tv in room the double bed was a large single, the mattress was so aged and thin It couldn't be used. When we went down and stated we were leaving asked for a refund the manager became verbally abusive and aggressive. I requested my receipt back as I seen on a previous review he frauded someone's card details. He tried to palm me off with some excuse he only had his copy. When I finally got a receipt it was for someone else's card details and a different amount to what we paid. The review on here that gives 5 star rating is clearly fake as I wouldn't let a stray dog sleep there. Wipe your feet on way out is an understatement. This place should be shut down permanently and when he reads this which he will I have spoken with Blackpool council and the hotels and guest houses ombudsmen. This place will be closed shortly for good

Avoid. Avoid. Avoid!

Just look at the photos for evidence of the dive that is the Cornhill hotel. Horrible person that runs it. Confrontational, defensive, refused refund. I really really no one else makes the mistake of booking this place. Mouse droppings in the cups, filthy bathroom, no lightbulb in the bath room, no hot water, the carpets were thick with dust.

Decent Budget Hotel

This is a very decently priced budget hotel,your on the seafront,close to attractions free parking and Wi-Fi unlike many other hotels who charge extra,so ok the rooms may not be 5 star but who goes on holiday to study the decor?I have stayed on two occasions and the bedding and towels were fresh and clean as well as the bathroom,the owner is doing his best to refurb the hotel obviously this will take time,the bar prices are very reasonable too and everyone is so friendly,so give this hotel a chance,,you won't be disappointed....thanks for a lovely stay,will be back very soon

As Expected - A budget hotel

Stopped here for a couple of nights with my girlfriend, was £34 for 2 nights so was reasonably cheap and the place is clearly getting renovated. Was a bit worried after reading the other reviews but it's safe to say the condition of the hotel is not as bad as the other reviews would lead you to believe. The owner was friendly and booked us in promptly, registering us for the finger print scanner access and then took us to our room.

The room itself was quite small but was acceptable for our needs with an en suite. The room was clean but in need of obvious redecoration as some of the wallpaper and decor was torn or dated. That said, still more than acceptable. There was no TV in the room unfortunately but as I say, it is being renovated so not all rooms have been totally kitted out.

If you're looking for a cheap hotel to spend a night or a few nights in Blackpool with your mates or in a couple then this hotel is reasonable. If you are expecting a 5* experience or staying as a family then you should probably look elsewhere.

6/10

I look forward to coming back at some point to see how the renovation has gone

Nope. Nope. Nope.

Yikes! I have no idea how or where to start.

I knew this was a budget hotel, although it seems I managed to pay more than most other reviewers when booking, but everything was just so bad!

We were greeted on arrival by a bloke in his socks who had trotted through from the hotel bar. This was ok though and he was a nice enough chap, although he did say if I want to smoke in the room make sure to open the window .

The room itself was actually quite shocking. Dirty and dated and broken. There was a hole in the bathroom roof and the toilet itself had all kinds of things on and in it. Everything was musty and generally seemed so grimey. I'm really trying to be nice here, it was all a bit shocking.

We laid on the bed at close to midnight and the noise from the karaoke in the bar beneath us was really really loud. Not the end of the world and if people were having fun then it would be cool. However there was one guy singing to the hotel owner and his mate, so it seemed ridiculous that they took priority over paying guests.

The bed was a weird mix of lumps, air, moisture and by the 7th flea bite we decided to up and leave.

I couldn't bring myself to argue or even attempt to approach the hotel 'management' who I presumed may have had a drink or 12 so packed up our case and headed elsewhere.

We'd lasted less than 40minutes in the room.

In fairness to the hotel they do state it is being renovated. I imagine this will take an awfully long time and perhaps until then they should close. It's not anywhere near suitable or fit for purpose.

Use the £50 I paid and didn't attempt to get back to go and get some cleaning product and paint.

Only decent thing was the location

This hotel looked lovely from the outside. We walked in and we thought it was going to be really nice and modern as it had a finger print recognition system to get into the hotel. How wrong could we have been. That was it, they must have spent all the budget on this as inside was horrible, smelly and i honestly don't know how they charge £50 a night for it. The wallpaper was ripped off the walls in the room. the windowsill was mucky with dead flies on it, the carpets were old mucky and stained, the bathroom was carpeted, the hot tap didnt even turn on, the kettle was mouldy, the bin was rusty and mouldy with mucky tissue and plasters in there, the towels looked like they hadn't even been washed and there was obvious stains on the bed covers and curtains. I honestly don't know how we stayed in that room, a hostel would have been luxury compared to this. The only positive was the location and we could sort of see the sea through the grubby windows! WOULD NOT RECOMMEND!!!!

family holiday

I would advise everyone to STAY AWAY from this BOMBSITE. Owner Alan says the rooms we stayed in were newly refurbished which just looks like new patch of wallpaper that's it. Rooms in which we had 3 were a total disappointment. Room 5 had toilet seat that had come straight off and not been sat on, wardrobe falling apart and wouldn't close, paint on carpets, beds that were repaired by planks of odd wood, dirty and dusty and not hoovered or any toilet rolls left. Room 8 had no lighting if it did it was the odd flicker, no tea/coffee or towels left or toilet rolls, paint on carpets, dirty bathroom and floor and also repaired 4 poster bed with sea view!!!. Room 11 (mine) repaired 4 poster bed and 3 singles one with a spring poking through mattress no pillows or cover on duvet, paint all over carpet, cupboard/wardrobe broken and door wont close as they have a stool holding it closed, bathroom not been cleaned at all (we cleaned it) shower dirty and sachet left in shower cubicle and sink all cracked and dirty and 1 toilet roll, lets not forget a big hole in the floor covered by a dirty carpet. Vodka bottles lying everywhere as with dust and dirt. we went to bed on 1st night and we booked in for 4 nights to get woken by World War 3 had broken out followed by 2 police vans due to 'hotel owner' and 'workers' fighting and getting arrested in their rooms and us frightened out of our wits and not feeling at all safe with our kids crying and scared out of wits too, in morning my mother in law got taken the mick out of by 'hotel workers' over where we came from. There was even blood on wood door frame in reception from the brawl in the night that hadn't been cleaned off. We paid months in advance with a promise that rooms would be done and breakfast on which on arrival was told no breakfast! So after that 1 night it was safe to say we couldn't put the kids never mind us through that again and after asking for our money back in which he told us he would contact us yesterday as he had just banked the money(I think they drunk all our payment for our rooms in vodka!!!) and we are still waiting. SO BE WARNED HOW THIS HOTEL IS ALLOWED TO OPERATE IS BEYOND US WHILE STILL BEING 'REFURBISHED' which the sign he got up looks like it years old and using that as an excuse! Don't get me started on his new Biometrics system!!!!

What a joke myself and my partner on Saturday night 14th we were MENT to be staying there and arrived at 9 which the manager said was ok someone would be there till 12pm. We managed to get in by other people that was staying there and looking round we were glad we didn't get a room empty beer cans lying around and takeaway boxes was not nice! After an hour of trying to get a hold of someone we gave up and thankfully found somewhere else to stay. Went back the next day to a drunk guy saying he was the relief manager and freely admitted that he went out that night to get drunk I got the managers number and called him he did apologize and said to go on to where we booked and get our money back. But maybe he should find better staff Then sat in there car park in the car the very nice lady came up and threated us to move or she would get our car clamped. We obviously had to pay out another lot of money to stay somewhere else.

All I'm saying is I wouldn't go back!
