5.0 Background Information

- 5.1 A conservation area is an area designated as being an "area of special architectural or historic interest, the character or appearance of which it is desirable to preserve or enhance", as set out in Section 69 of the Planning (Listed Buildings and Conservation Areas) Act 1990. Under this legislation, local authorities have a duty to designate such areas and from time to time to review the past exercise of their functions under this section. Local authorities can use their planning powers to safeguard and enhance the special qualities of these areas within a framework of managing change with a positive approach. Designation automatically entails control over the demolition of unlisted buildings, strengthens controls over minor development and gives special protection to trees within the area.
- 5.2 The Architectural History Practice Limited (AHP) was commissioned in September 2008 by Blackpool Council, funded by English Heritage, to prepare a historic townscape characterisation assessment of several areas of Blackpool. This exercise was intended to inform the Council about the heritage value of the areas as part of the development of regeneration proposals, and the town's bid for World Heritage status. The Characterisation Project itself saw every street and group of buildings assessed for townscape and heritage merit in those areas, and the studies concluded that there was potential for conservation area designation in Foxhall and Raikes Hall, and for the extension of the Town Centre Conservation Area.
- 5.3 The National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) states that the historic built environment is an irreplaceable resource, and strategies should be developed through Local Plans so that heritage assets are conserved in a manner appropriate to their significance.

- 5.4 Policy CS8 of the Blackpool Local Plan Part 1: Core Strategy states that development proposals will be supported which respect and draw inspiration from Blackpool's built, social and cultural heritage. Proposals will be supported that strengthen the existing character created by historic buildings. Developers must demonstrate how development will complement and enhance existing features of heritage significance including their wider setting for conservation areas, listed buildings and other identified heritage assets.
- 5.5 On 2 November 2011, approval was received to draw up conservation area appraisals for a Raikes Hall Conservation Area, Foxhall Conservation Area, and an extension of the Town Centre Conservation Area.
- 5.6 Public consultation on the appraisals and suggested boundaries was carried out by publishing notices in Your Blackpool, which is circulated to every household in Blackpool, and a public meeting was held at the Town Hall on 4 December 2014. No written representations have been received. Following discussion at the meeting on 4th December 2014 the proposed eastern boundary of the Foxhall Conservation Area has been moved back to include both sides of Coop Street.
- 5.7 If the new conservation areas and the extended conservation area are formally designated, notices will be published to that effect in the Blackpool Gazette and the London Gazette as required by the Planning (Listed Buildings and Conservation Areas) Act 1990
- 5.8 Does the information submitted include any exempt information? No
